

Resort Cottage Colonies Planning Say Functions for Days of Midsummer sister, Miss Eleanor Newhall, of Strafford, sailed for Europe on the Imperator.

OTTAGE colonies at the various summer resorts have now settled down to their usual gayeties. Of course, each resort has one or two pet charities in which the visitors interest themselves and always give several dances or fetes to benefit. The cottage colony of Chelsea, Ventnor and Longport gave a "Tombola" at the Children's Seashore Home on Wednesday afternoon. The patronesses included a number of prominent society women, mostly from Philadelphia. This annual fete was in the form of an Italian Fair. An additional attraction this year was that Mayor Riddle sent the Municipal Band, which rendered dance music. One of the largest wards was given over to the dancers. Not only did the guests participate, but the physicians and nurses and the children of the institution joined in the dances. Dr. and Mrs. H. M. D. Bennett, who manage the institution, were the recipient of many congratulations owing to the decided success of the affair. Mrs. Bennett plans and works industriously for many weeks, even months, so as to have the annual fete a pleasant and interesting event. She was assisted by Mrs. Henry Drinker Riley, Mrs. Albert Pancoast, Mrs. J. Parker Norris, Mrs. Henry C. Mayer, Mrs. Wm. M. Lycett, Bishop and Mrs. Garland, the Misses Newbold, Misses Lennig and Miss Reta Lysle.

From a social viewpoint the most important visitor at Newport this season has been the Duchess of Marlborough. The large and novel costume ball given on Friday night by Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont in honor of her daughter, the Duchess, was incidently the official opening of the new Chinese tea house which has been erected on the rear of the Marble House estate. There were 300 invitations issued.

The second costume ball will be given by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish on August 14. It will be a floral ball and will be one of the features of the midsummer flower show that is being given by the Newport Horticultural Society, at the grounds of Mrs. Belmont's unused Belcourt. Mrs. Fish's ball will be at Crossways. The guests are expected to appear in costumes representative of the flowers and plants of the garden. Each year, Mrs. Fish decides on some novel idea for her feature entertainment of the season.

Next to this, a little later in the month, Mrs. French Vanderbilt is to have a costume party. This will be a Colonial affair, the period of 1800 having From present indications the interest manifested by society in the eighteenth annual horse show, to be held at Newport on September 7, 8 and 9, is destined to be greater this year than last, several of the boxes having already been taken. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelso Cassatt gave a large luncheon on Monday at the Casino. A luncheon was given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLean, at "Blackpoint

Farm." It was served out on the lawn. An orchestra was stationed outdoors, the guests dancing during the luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. McLean were prominent exhibitors at the recent Devon horse show and will again have a number of entries at the Bryn Mawr Horse Show, held during the latter part of Sep-A dance was given by Mrs. Alexander J. Cassatt on last Monday night at

"Stone Acre," Newport, in honor of her granddaughter, Miss Lois Caseatt, and Miss Sydney Ellis, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Struthers Ellis, of Bryn Mawr. Miss Ellis is the house guest of Mrs. Caseatt for an indefinite period. The dinner before the dance was quite small, only thirty young people being invited. The tables were decorated with pink roses and lilies of the valley. Additional guests numbering 200 arrived later on for the dance. On August 24, Mrs. Caseatt will give a ball in honor of Miss Lois Caseatt. A number of dinners preceded the Caseatt dance on Monday night.
